TV SERVICES UPDATE: ARRIVAL OF NEW TRANSMITTERS

The new transmitters that will fully restore television services across the island have arrived on Norfolk Island.

Norfolk Island Regional Council (Council) thanks the community for their continued patience as the installation of the new equipment progresses. We look forward to advising the community when the service is restored.

Council notes that free-to-air television transmission is provided to the community at no cost to users.

Council receives no income from the service, but every effort is made to restore full television coverage as quickly as possible.
